THE ONLINE SHOPPING EFFECT

Warehousing & Shipping Jobs Skyrocket

Retailers have shed more than 100,000 jobs in the past six months as many of them fight for survival in a mobile landscape, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. The continuing shift from brick-and-mortar stores to online commerce is forcing a wave of empty storefronts, including hundreds across Pennsylvania. While commercial retailers strive to fill those spaces, consumers shopping on smartphones are creating a demand for warehouses and fulfillment centers. Economists say nearly 400,000 e-commerce jobs have been created in the last 10 years, mostly due to Amazon's growth.
